

January 15, 1951.

Dear Roger:

Your itinerary appears satisfactory, except that Velick is speaking on the evening of the 31st. We are therefore planning your seminar for the evening of the 30th. Please let me know right away if this is not satisfactory to you. I gathered the impression that you were thinking of an afternoon seminar, in which case the afternoon of the day you arrived might be too soon. It would be possible to arrange a date at 4PM on the 31st, but this will not be so well attended, especially with Velick's previously scheduled talk later that evening.

It is a pleasant drive to Portage, and we will be glad to pick you up from the 10:30 AM arrival, or any other you warn us of. However, if the roads are bad, or if you don't see us at the station, check with the station agent, with whom I will leave a message. There is both bus and train service, both mediocre.

The Biochemistry Department (H.A. Lardy in particular), has arranged an honorarium ($50, I think), which I hope will be adequate. Esther and I will be glad to put you up; if you prefer greater freedom of movement in town, let us know and we'll make other arrangements.

Your message will be forwarded to Quin, and we are all looking forward to seeing you.

Sincerely,

Joshua Lederberg.

P.S. Don't forget about glucose utilization in E. coli— you asked to be reminded.
